To Whom it May Concern:

Being in business myself, I value the credit of a professional associate standing behind their products or services.

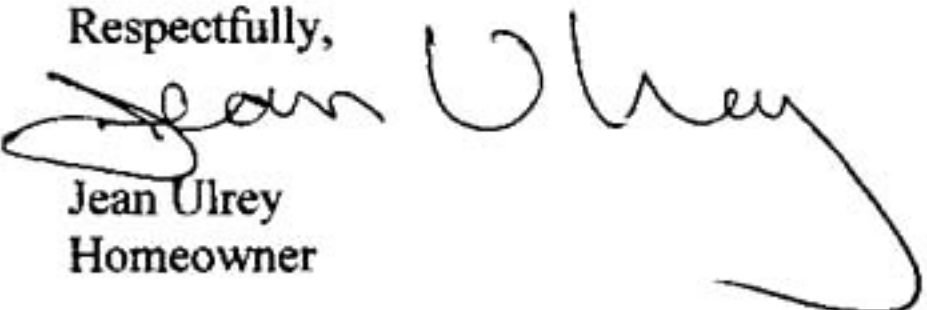

I was in need of some very special work on my roof. My home was added on to many times before I purchased it. When my roof started to leak I had several contractors come out and give me an estimate. One even said it was so simple he just repaired it for me.

That lasted about one week. So I then relied on the word from a friend. "Call Dutch's Roofing." I did so indeed.. They came out to my home almost immediately and assessed what was wrong. They knew what it was causing my leak and how to fix it correctly, they also explained it to me very clearly.

I was very pleased with their estimate and left it up to them. They came out and took care of my roof problems. They were very professional and courteous all the time they were there. I was even impressed on how well they cleaned up after their work.

To this day, years later, I have not had one single problem with my roof. If I ever do I know that I will call then again. Thanks Dutch's Roofing for helping me out and being an honest contractor.

Respectfully,

Jean Ulrey
